

Drawing courtesy of C. W. Driver

The new School of Speech, Language and Hearing Sciences at San Diego State University is scheduled to be completed in August.

Construction Launches: Construction recently began on the new School of Speech, Language and Hearing Sciences at San Diego State University. The project consist of renovating 28,000 square feet of existing classroom and lab space in the former Student Health Service building for undergraduate, masters and doctoral level students in speech-language pathology, communicative sciences, audiology and American Sign Language/deaf studies.

The design build team includes the San Diego office of C.W. Driver, San Diego-based Ferguson Pape Baldwin Architects, ICS Mechanical, Rowan Electric, Brady Co., and Casper Co.

The projected completion date is scheduled for August.

Send real estate news to Michelle Mowad at mmowad@sdbj.com. She may also be reached at (858) 277-6359, ext. 3109.